

Sunday Thoughts: Let the generation ahead think of us...once upon a time!

Dear friends, as we journey through life, let's remember that living with love and care is the key to leaving a lasting legacy. When we prioritize kindness, compassion, and selflessness, we create a life that will be cherished by future generations.

Let's strive to be the stories that our children and grandchildren will tell with nostalgia and reverence. Let them say, "Once upon a time..." and remember us with fondness and admiration.

Thank you for being a SoulDear in life. May our collective legacy be one of love, kindness, and inspiration. Prayers for your wellbeing. - Balachandra
